

Studie zum Myopie-Management mit der „Menicon Bloom Day“

Von „eklig“ zu „super“: Ein Erlebnis mit Kontaktlinsen

LITERATURVERZEICHNIS

1. Payor R, Woods J, Situ P, Dillehay S, Griffin R, Tyson M, & Jones L. (2014) Feasibility Testing of a Novel SCL Optical Design to Reduce Suspected Risk Factors for the Progression of Juvenile Onset Myopia. IOVS; 55(13)
2. Patents Awarded – MULTIFOCAL OPHTHALMIC LENS WITH INDUCED APERTURE. Siehe <https://vtivision.com/about/patents/>
3. Tuan KA, Dillehay SM, A Randomized Controlled Trial for Myopia Progression Control Using Catenary Power Profile Contact Lenses: 12-month Effectiveness and Safety. IOVS, 2024;65(7):2697
4. Young G, Sulley A, Hunt C. Eye Contact Lens. 2011; 37:20-25
5. Jones L, Drobe B, González-Méjome JM, et al. IMI—industry guidelines and ethical considerations for myopia control report. Invest Ophthalmol Vis Sci. 2019; 60: M161–M183
6. Carracedo, G. Evaluation of Visual Acuity with Multifocal Catenary Curve-Based Contact Lens Design in Different Degrees of Astigmatism. Poster, GSLS, 2025
7. Menicon Bloom™ war das erste CE-zugelassene Konzept zur Myopiekontrolle. Infos: www.meniconbloom.com/de